

Your Future

Be Uncommon

What type of day are you going to have?

A large group of birds, appearing as dark silhouettes, are perched on three horizontal wires that stretch across the upper portion of the image. The background is a bright, cloudy sky. The birds are densely packed on the top three wires, while a single bird is perched on a fourth wire that is positioned lower and further to the left. The overall scene is a visual metaphor for being different in a crowd.

but not everybody has a will to prepare

If you're afraid of failure,
you won't try to do very much.

Failure is part of being human.

One great life lesson I've learned from sports,
is that no one wins every time.

Be positive, your mind is more powerful than you think
